The patterns in this file are supposed to be used as a base and an inspiration for creating your own patterns. You can expand them, reshape them or build stuff on top of them.

Please note that every bodyshape is different - so these patterns may not fit you, even if you have the same height and weight as my base model. Please feel free to adapt them to fit your personal body type.

I tried to include every important armor part from head to toes so you won't miss a thing when trying to create a full armor set.

If you want to learn how to build armor with materials like Worbla you can get my book about armor making from my shop:

One does not simply print armor.

Most of the patterns in this PDF are cut in half and need to be mirrored.

The patterns you'll be printing out will look like this:

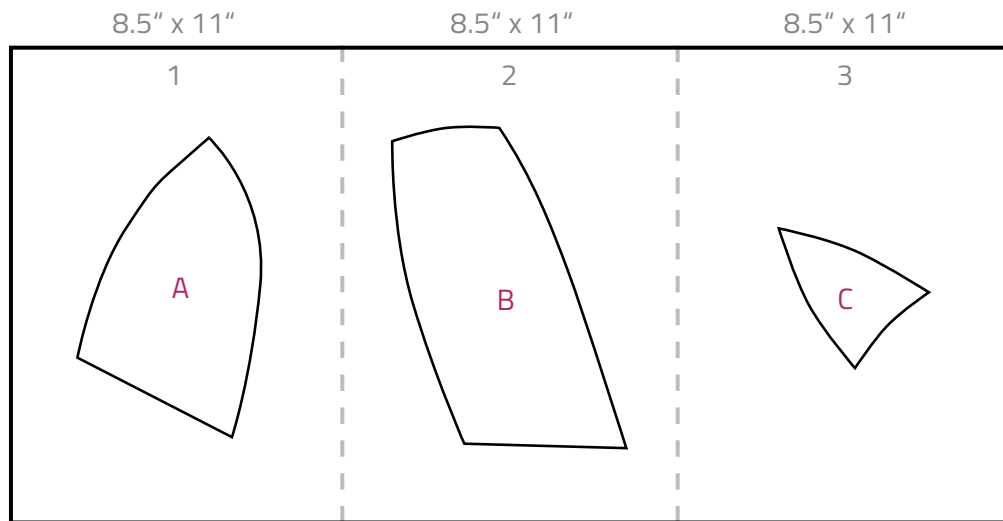

However just copy them once (or print them out twice), flip one of them around and glue or tape them together to get the full pattern:

Helmet

Print out the following pages without stretching or resizing them.
Glue or tape the separate parts together to get the original sized pattern.

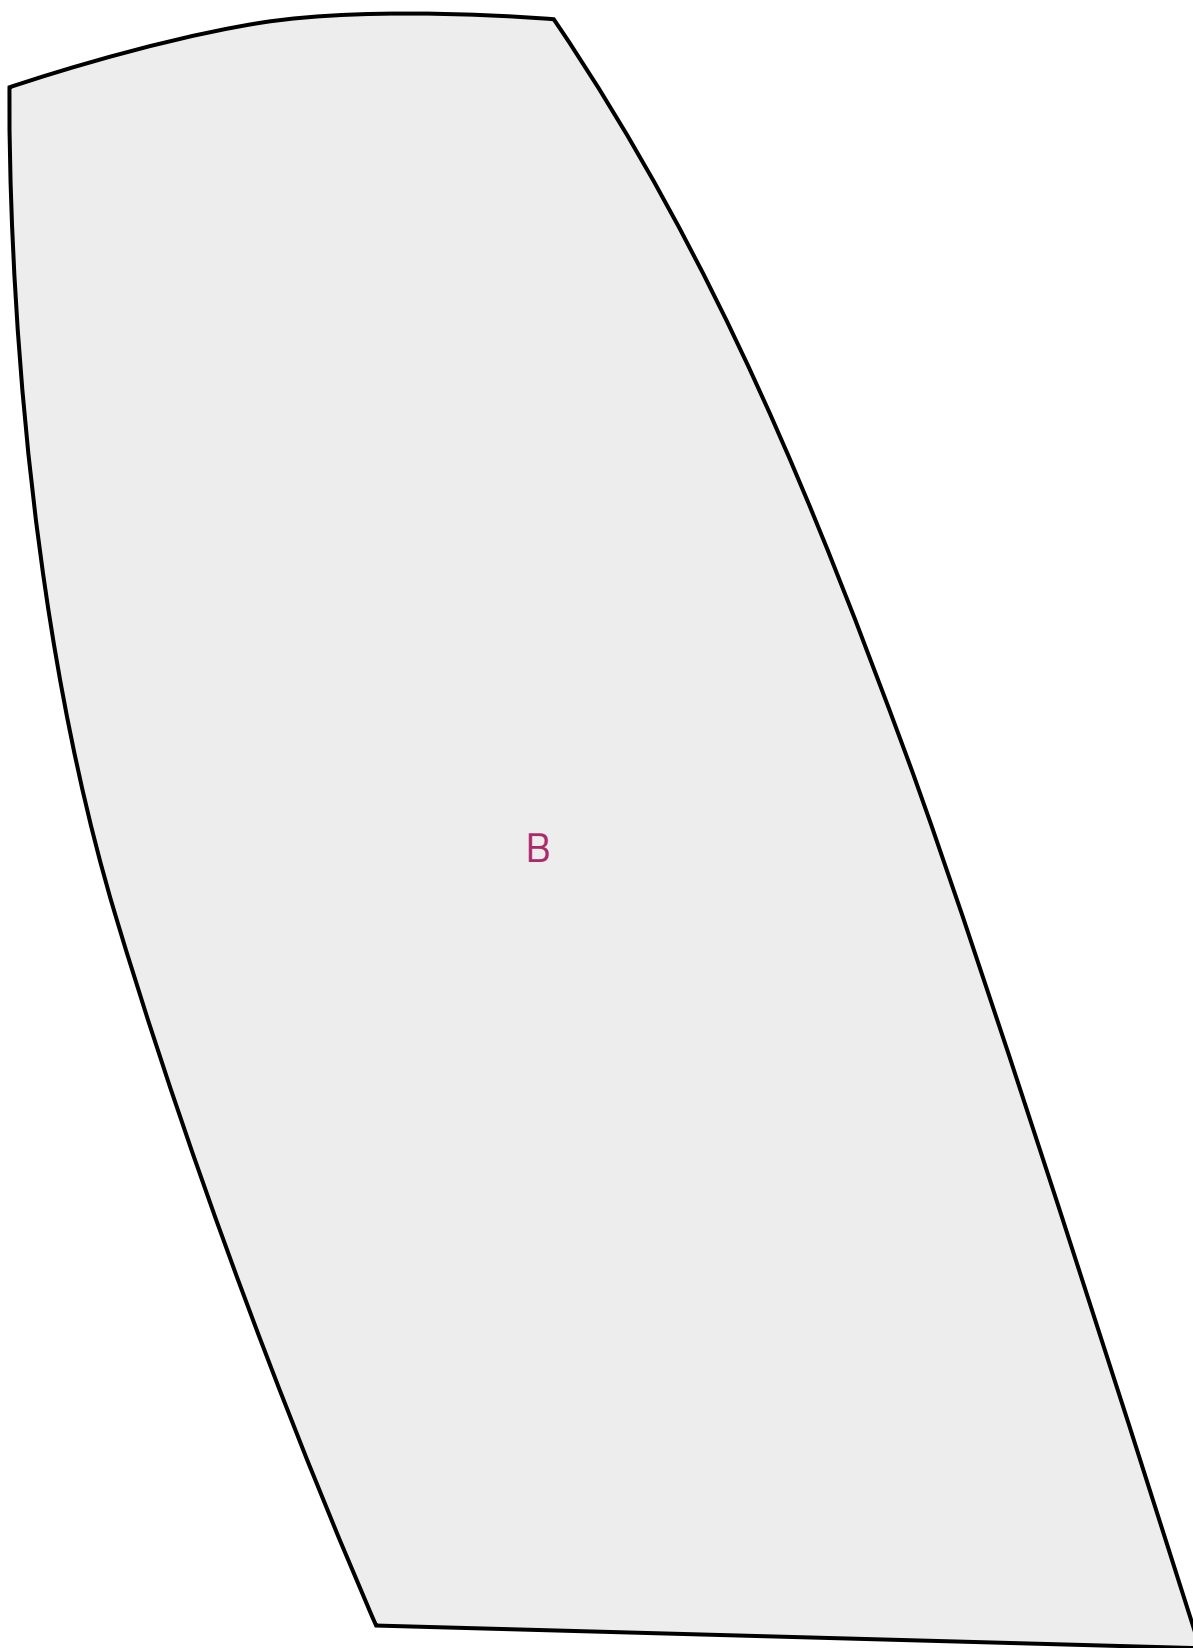

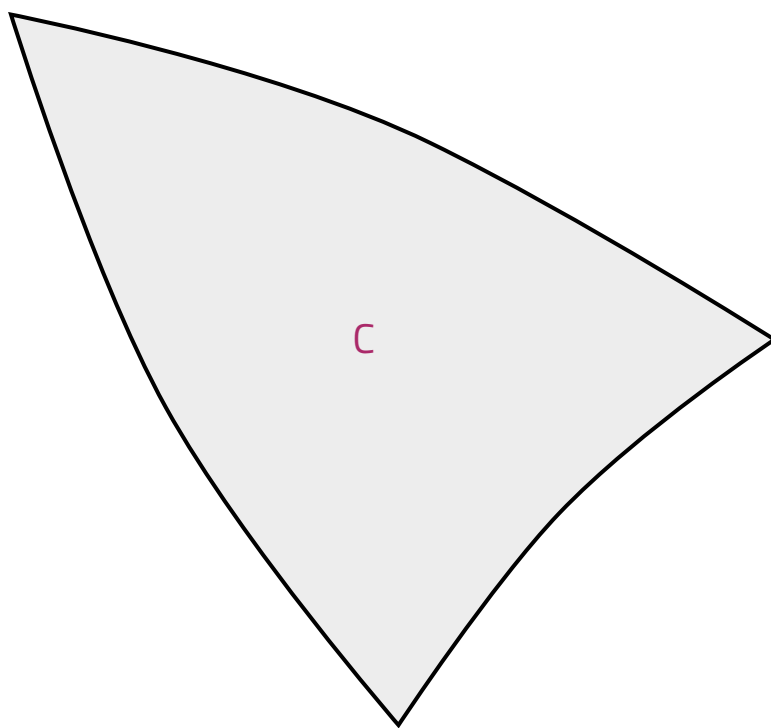

Every rectangle represents a 8.5 x 11 inch page.
Print out every page, cut out every piece and glue or tape them together by matching similar letters.

Gorget

Print out the following pages without stretching or resizing them.
Glue or tape the separate parts together to get the original sized pattern.

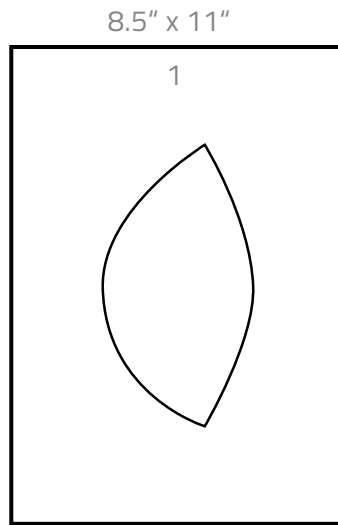

Every rectangle represents a 8.5 x 11 inch page.
Print out every page, cut out every piece and glue or tape them together by matching similar letters.

Pauldron

Print out the following pages without stretching or resizing them.
Glue or tape the separate parts together to get the original sized pattern.

Every rectangle represents a 8.5 x 11 inch page.
